

IMPORTANT UPDATE: FedEx Delivery

14 October 2021

FedEx are experiencing further issues and it will take time to clear down everything remaining in the hub.

As a result, we cannot guarantee that orders placed yesterday (Wednesday) will be delivered today. If this is the case for your delivery, it will be with you tomorrow (Friday).

Due to the issues that FedEx are having, we are unfortunately unable to track deliveries.

We have been working hard on an alternative solution to avoid further problems – this is a process that would normally take a number of months, but within a few days, by pulling out all of the stops, we are hopeful that we will soon be able to confirm a new solution.

Again, we apologise sincerely on behalf of FedEx. We are doing everything we can to implement a solution and will keep you updated on developments as soon as we possibly can.